When Hurricanes Katrina and Rita roared through the U.S. Gulf, they left a trail of destruction on land and at sea. Dozens of vessels were damaged, sunk or otherwise rendered immobile, some posing an immediate hazard to navigation.

Titan, with help from its Jack-up barges Karlissa-A and Karlissa-B, has successfully refloated more than 70 vessels along the Gulf Coast to date, and has performed a Lloyd's Open Form Salvage on a 38,000 GT bulk ship and 24,000 GT tanker, which had run aground fully laden with crude. The tanker was safely lightered and re-floated in only three days.
