

OCEAN TO AIR:
FRESH PRODUCE
SHIPMENTS TO EUROPE
AND ASIA

We keep Produce from Central America cold, fresh and moving all the way to Europe and Asia.

Crowley and its subsidiary, Customized Brokers have launched a pioneering program that combines ocean and air transport of perishable products from Central America to Asia and Europe via South Florida with multiple sailing days and fast transit times.

Once the fresh produce is loaded at the farm or packing house in Central America, it travels by refrigerated container aboard one of Crowley's ocean vessels for transit to Port Everglades. Cargo is then transported in-bond by Crowley to the Miami International Airport where it is transferred and loaded aboard a cargo plane for quick transport to its destination. It's all designed to save shippers time and money, and to enable European and Asian consumers access to fresh fruits and vegetables without seasonal limitation.

With Crowley's on-call, dedicated refrigerated (reefer) customer service and customs brokerage experts at your disposal, we are the best choice to ensure your produce speeds around the globe and into market at the peak of freshness. Whatever your supply chain needs, count on Crowley. For more information, please contact our Customer Service team today:
